

Increasing Food Security for Military Families

Join OneOp as we mobilize family service professionals at federal, state, and local levels to focus on expanding food security for our military family population with the 2023 Military Family Readiness Academy, Military Families and Food Security: A Call to Action.

An estimated 24% of our nation's active-duty service members and their families are food insecure. Extension educators can help! The 2023 MFRAcademy is a multidisciplinary approach to alleviating food insecurity needs within the military family community.

The 2023 MFRAcademy offerings include:

- A self-paced course developed by a national food security expert
- A panel discussion with federal agency representatives
- An interactive session that aids participants in creating a food security resource guide
- And a LinkedIn group engagement opportunity!

Discover how you and other professionals can work together to expand food security for military families with Military Families and Food Security: A Call to Action.

Images that can be included:

